

PNEUMONIA RAGING

THREE DEATHS IN ONE FAMILY

Pneumonia has become almost an epidemic. Three deaths occurred in one family and the disease seems to be spreading in all directions. This dread disease always begins with a cold, and it is all important that a cold should be checked as soon as it manifests itself. An eminent physician says that, "in ninety-five of all diseases begin with a cold."

Not one death in ten would occur if people would take Maynon's Cold Cure, as it

MIS. LANGER RICKS DOWN.
Accuses Her Husband of Strating Miss and Here to Withdraw the Complaint Mrs Jennie Langer, who keeps a saloon at 232 West 125th street, accused her husband, Lyons Langer, in the Harlem Court yesterday of robbing her of $18 in diamonds, jewelry, and money. She said that her three children in the rear of the store, her husband lived with her on week or two ago, when their quarrel broke out, and that she was afraid

on commission. According to her story, she left the store on Sunday afternoon to visit her friends. She left her children at home. When her return in the evening, one of the children told her that Langer had come to the store. Her absence, opened the safe, and taken everything out of it.

Mrs. Langer wrote to her husband, she was demanding the return of the property, and he replied declining to do so, adding that he would go to the police. She then called upon Inspector McLaughlin and Langer was arrested. Yesterday night to his home.

After reading the complaint, on the record of the lawyers, Justice Weido set the day down for examination this afternoon. La was placed under $20,000 bail, in default of which he was locked up. The property was said to belong to Jewellers Emanuel L. Charles Rosenberg, and others.

During the afternoon session of the court, Mr. Lauder came in accompanied by a lawyer, and a man said to be her father. "Your Honor," she said, "I've discovered I have made a serious mistake in my

"And I refuse to allow you to do so," Judge Wells replied. "I'm going to get at the bottom of this case, you could it say to get into my office and will be there fairly often after before you get out of it."

With tears in her eyes the woman beseeched the justice to return the complaint, but steadfastly refused. He ordered her to leave the court room once she had pulled the wool over his eyes, but I assure you you cannot do so and am going to make you prove every statement you have sworn to in your charge."

Mrs. Langer was in a terrible hurry to get home. The judge's words were like a hammer blow.

to whom she declined to have sold her property. She was a mother and a woman. Her life had been sold outright. "The slave is the property," she said, "and she is the complainant. With selling the jewelry, she was not selling the property. The property is the complaint. The Justice's remarks were a violation of the law. The Justice was not to do that Mrs. Sanger's husband had nothing to do with the alleged robbery on Sunday."

At this time," said his Honor, "there were too many Socialists in the world just then to applaud any such act. Why should England honor a man of Nelson's stamp? It was a great mistake to have a monument erected in that Cartier square in his honor."

SAYS HE'S NOT ANOTHER MAN.
A New York Criminal Gets a Chance to does His Alleged Double.

Boston, Jan. 18.—Charles Williams, charged with having burglars' tools in his possession and breaking and entering the store of Mead & Co., on North Market street, Jan. 14, last, was brought

The court for sentence yesterday, but sentence was deferred until Friday to enable the defendant to bring Lewis Corn from New York to satisfy the court that Williams is not the same man. The prosecution say they are the same. Williams was put before the court the record of which shows Lewis Corn for crime. Williams admits that New York is his home but denies that he is Corn and offered to be sworn in. If it was thought necessary to prove certain photographs of Corn which were produced in court.

The photographs are said to bear a close resemblance to Williams.

Test of the Montgomery T- day.

STEAMER Garfield completed the work to placing buoys for the Montgomery trial. If weather permitting, the new cruiser will demonstrate her speed in a four-hour's run tomorrow. The Garfield, with Commander H. Cooper and Lieut. West aboard, has engaged since Sunday morning in laying the thirty-six-mile course on Long Island Sound. When notified this evening the government is ready for the trial, the tractor announced that they would make a run to-morrow unless thick or stormy weather intervened.

Hearing in the Maguire-Conklin Case
The hearing in the contest between Mr. Maguire, the Democratic Assemblyman, and Mr. Conklin, the Republican, was held in the Village Hall, New Brighton, before the Committee on Contested Elections, consisting of Messrs. Saratoga, Adams and Schermerhorn of Queens. Maguire was represented by Gen. Wildgate and Conklin by Louis F. Phillips. Several witnesses testified in the manner in which the voting was
